The Third Oil Loss Control Conference

The Third Oil Loss Control Conference

The proceedings of an international conference organized by the Institute of Petroleum and held in London during November 1988. It focussed on the distribution of mainly motor fuels from the refinery gate to the forecourt dispensing pump. Papers presented covered the downstream supply by coaster and pipeline, storage and handling operations at the storage terminal, wetstock management from the gantry, road tanker delivery to the forecourt underground storage tanks and dispensation of motor spirit by the forecourt pumps. Financial aspects of product distribution were also covered, including loss control, the impact of losses and the effect on the company balance sheet. Papers addressed aspects of both liquid measurement and physical loss due to evaporative emissions, the performance of forecourt gauging devices and the possible influence of automation on the overall reconciliation between road tanker delivery and forecourt dispensation quantities.
